O America! O my country,
Thou land of Liberty!
To thee I owe my blood,
To thee I owe my life, my soul!
I owe to thee!

The countless stars that shine on high,
Brightly bestow their smiles most sweet;
And in their age-long pilgrimage,
Kneeling, the sea-waves kiss thy feet.

O America! O my country,
Thou land of Liberty!
To thee I owe my blood,
To thee I owe my life, my soul!
I owe to thee!

The glad beams of thy aureole
Make blind the eyes that envy thee;
Thou reignest and shalt reign for aye,
O mighty country of the free!

O America! O my country,
Thou land of Liberty!
To thee I owe my blood,
To thee I owe my life, my soul!
I owe to thee!
